

CAPT. DULFER'S SON HELD ON CHARGE OF GIRL WHO VANISHED

Miss Anderson Denies "System" Sent Her Away, but Says Youth Stole $50.

The case of Arthur Dulfer, the twenty-year-old son of Police Captain Dulfer of the Richmond Hill precinct, accused of stealing a handbag containing $50 from Agnes Anderson in Prospect Park on June 24, was called to-day in Flatbush Court before Magistrate Stearns. After a partial examination young Dulfer was held in $5,000 bail for the Grand Jury, which will take action in the matter to-morrow.

Policeman John J. Donnelly testified that he saw Magistrate Reynolds in an automobile and others chasing Dulfer, who dodged into a house at Eighth avenue and President street. He arrested Dulfer in the cellar of the house as the young man was in the act of slipping on a pair of overalls. Dulfer had covered his face with dirt in an effort to disguise himself as a man at work.

Agnes Anderson, who fled to Davenport, Iowa, the day after the robbery and was brought back several days ago by Detective Roddy, was called. She said she had been employed as a domestic by Lockwood Barr, an editor at No. 34 Hawthorne street, Flatbush, until June 24th but was to have left on that day. She had bought a ticket to Davenport where her brother lives and had collected $50 from Mr. Barr.

On the morning of June 24, Miss Anderson said, she started to Cumberland Street Hospital to visit a sick relative. In Prospect Park she met Dulfer and two other men, who addressed her. They sat on a bench and the young men went to a saloon outside the park and brought a bottle of whiskey. She didn't drink any of the whiskey, she said, but her companions finished the bottle, and they all started from the park at 2:10 o'clock. At the park exit Dulfer snatched her mesabag, containing $50, from her hand and ran with it.

W. Rossiter Redmond, counsel for Dulfer, cross-examined the girl as to the nature of her conversation with Dulfer and if she told him anything about where she got the $50. Her answers did not satisfy Mr. Redmond and he waived further examination. An Assistant District Attorney was ready with evidence to show that Dulfer admitted to Policeman Donnelly, in the presence of Magistrate Reynolds, that he snatched the money from the girl "because she got it so easy."

SHOT WIFE, KILLED HIMSELF.

Woman Who Left Worthless Husband Fired Upon in Street.

Rocco Callabrese, a laborer who seldom labored, shot himself dead in front of the grocery store of Giuseppe Pannella at No. 3 West Third street to-day when he thought he had killed her. After they were married a year ago Mrs. Callabrese, with money she had inherited, started a store at Third avenue and Twenty-second street. Sales were frequent, but the till was always empty. Mrs. Callabrese closed the store and left her husband and went to live with her brother at No. 25 Bedford street.

The husband made several threats to injure her unless she took him back, and to-day told in ambush in a doorway near the grocery store where she has been going every day to buy her bread, that she was to die. He fired a shot, Callabrese dropped to the ground with flesh wounds in her left arm and side. Then he turned the revolver on himself.

Mrs. Callabrese was attended by Dr. Sawyer of St. Vincent's Hospital and sent to her brother's home.

FLUSHING INTERESTED IN COMING WEDDING.

Marriage of John T. Woolley and Miss Mary J. Duryea Will Join Two Old Families.

All Flushing is interested in the approaching marriage of John T. Woolley and Miss Mary J. Duryea, for the wedding will join two of the oldest of Long Island families, and the Duryeas especially have been prominent in Flushing for generations. The Woolleys were among the earliest settlers of the Lakeville region of Long Island and have had large realty holdings there. Mr. Woolley, who now lives at No. 1801 Pacific street, Brooklyn, is still one year of age and his bride is forty-four.

Miss Duryea has been a teacher in Public School No. 4 in Long Island City, but she has made her home with her father, Benjamin K. Duryea, at No. 173 Barclay street, Flushing. It was only about five years ago that the famous Duryea house in Flushing was razed. It was a stone mansion built in pre-revolutionary times, and there were porticoes beneath the eaves, behind which were mounted cannon impaled from Holland. In the old days of Indian outbreaks all the Flushing settlers used to congregate in the big stone house and there stand off the siege.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 13.—Two grinding mills of the B. I. DuPont de Nemours Powder Company at Hagley Yard, near here, blew up to-day. No one was injured. About one thousand pounds of powder exploded, causing damage to the structures.

IT ought to be a pleasure. You're entitled to that.
